Heads-up!

Dear Parents and Carers

Welcome back to.... The building site! Behind the fenced construction area, there are asbestos removal works as well as tunnelling, piping and lots and lots of digging. We have marked the fencing with pupil-friendly signs and symbols. Class teams have been explaining the rules and boundary areas to all pupils. The construction area is absolutely out of bounds for anyone other than the builders. So far, the pupils have been amazing and done their best to stay safe. It does mean that with 112 pupils, we are really cramped into small areas for break and lunch times so it is a challenge for all of us. Thank you to all parents for your support with the hectic start to term including the major electrical malfunction in Week 1!

We welcome Rebekah Fordham-Brown (HLTA) and Alison Keane (Head on Fridays only) to the staff team.

Pupil attendance codes have changed nationally, basically what it means is we have much more precise descriptors to send back to the LA and I cannot be authorising absence unless it is extreme need and falls within the descriptors. Pupils not attending school is safeguarding issue and we are also monitoring this closely, to ensure all absences are followed up.

Thanks to Becky Sealey and Mandy in the office for keeping reviews going despite the extreme logistical challenges this term, we welcome as much input from parents/carers as you can manage please, so the EHCP is as accurate and person-centred as possible.

Marianne

We've had some new arrivals in Daisy's class this week!

They now have two new guinea pigs, Buttercup and Blossom, who are settling in well.

Daisy is really proud of her pupils, for learning how to hold them gently and what to feed them.

Tom the Music Man

Pre-Formal class absolutely embraced the music therapy session with Tom. They all engaged in exploring the different instruments, listening to changes in volume, singing and dancing, but most importantly having fun.
